IVY CITY BACE TRACE, WASHINGTON, D. C. Nov. 5 .- There is a radical change in the temperature since yesterday, when it was summer-like in warmth. To-day it is very cool the shade, but quite pleasant the sun, which shines bright and There is a good attendance, but not as large as yesterday. The track is in fine condition and fast. The many friends of Garrison were disappointed to-day by his not riding. But the long-continued work has told on him. He was taken quite ill last night with a hemorrhage and has been sent home.

mgnt with a hemotrhage and has been sent home.

The day's racing as a whole was not specially interesting. The prominent feature was Telie Doe's double win. She captured the first race, a dash of a mile, easily in 1.42½, with McLaughlin nursing her all in his power. He then rode her in the fourth race, a mile and a sixteenth, which she won eleverly from Glenmound in 1.49½. For both races McLaughlin was loudly applauded. The other races were in turn won by Dunboyne, Patrocles and Valiant. McLaughlin rode the last named, which increased his record to 113 winning mounts. The details are as follows.

PIRST RACE.

The Race.—After some delay Telie Doe got the best of the start and Barnum the worst. McLaughlin lost no time, but keeping right on, was chased down the backstretch by Error, Pericles and Bess. In the run round the turn Telie Doe rapidly drew away from the field, and finally won under a pull by two lengths. Barnum, after a good race up the stretch, got the place by two lengths from Bess, My Maryland gelding fourth and Pericles fifth. Mutuels paid $7.65.

SECOND BACE.

The Race.—They got an even start, when Lelex ran forward, and at the stand was a length in front of Dunboyne. On the turn the latter closed up, and they ran a sharp race down the backstretch, round the tower turn and up the stretch, where Lelex caught the whip. Dunboyne, without being touched, won by a neck. Mutuels paid $7.20. TRIND RACE.

THREE MORE VICTORIES FOR DEMPSEY. He Defeats McCann, Bosworth and Kelli her in Four-Round Contests.

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.] WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 5 .- The engage ment of Jack Dempsey this week at the Grand Central Theatre has been wonderfully successful one. The Nonpareil has met three men, McCann, of Chester, Pa., Monday night;

McCann, of Chester, Pa., Monday night:
Frank Bosworth, of Providence, R. I., and Denny Kelliher, of Philadelphia, last night, in four-round glove contests, and defeated them all in his usual invincible style. The contest last night between Dempsey and Kelliher was the best of the week's engagement so far, although what to night will bring forth when Dempsey is billed to meet Joe Ellingsworth, of New York, the former amateur middleweight champion, no one can tell. There is plenty of betting at odds of $10 to $4 on Dempsey.
Kelliher is a big muscular pugllist whose weight is upwards of 220 pounds. Last winter he knocked out Frank Hearld, the pugilist who fought John L. Sullivan and Jack Kilrain ir one round.

The bout between Kelliher and Dempsey seemed a very even one the first and second rounds, but Kelliher could no more land his right in the neighborhood of his small but wonderfully scientific opponent's jaw than he could wing a swallow with an ape. Dempsey began to force the pace in the third round and cut the larger man's face up badly with his swinging left hand jabs which he induced Kelliher, by *clever feints, to duck right into. Dempsey made a chopping block of the big Philadelphian in the fourth and last round. He counted on Kelliher with both hands. The audience went wild over the wonderful exhibition of the clever Williamsburger, and in Delaware offers of $40 against $100 on Reagan in the coming battle with Dempsey would be jamped at. Dempsey and his backer. Jake Stearns, will leave for New York Monday morning, and from there the middleweight champion will go down to Rockaway, where Jack is to look after the training of McAuliffe. Dempsey seconds championship of the world with Jem Carney.

DISABLED BY A COAL SCHOONER.

An Accident to the Training-Ship Portsmouth Last Night.

The training-ship Portsmouth, Commander Edwin White, is lying off Tompkinsville disabled, the result of a collision last night with the three-masted coal-laden schooner, Loring C. Ballard, of Norfolk, and bound down East. The Portsmouth left New York yesterday for Norfolk and reached the South Channel, outside Sandy Hook.
About five minutes later the vessels sighted each other, and the schooner seemed undecided which course to take. The Portsmouth was close hauled and on the starboard tack, and according to the law of all nations a vessel so standing has the right of way. The schooner after sighting the Portsmouth, sgain changed her course, striking the man-of-war on the port side, her head boom coming through the main rigging, carrying away
the ship's new shrouds, two quarter boats, one a life boat, the main brace bumpkin, and finally the whaleboat gig.
The main and mizzen topgallant light yards were carried away, and the main brace, mizzentopsail braces and a deal of other running rigging also were carried off.
The Portsmouth immediately dropped anchor and the schooner followed suit about one and a half miles beyond. This morning the latter continued her voyage, taking this time the outside course by way of Montauk, and the Portsmouth was towed to Tompkinsville. She will proceed to Brooklyn to-morrow and undergo repairs at the Navy-Yard. No one was injured on board the Portsmouth. bound down East. The Portsmouth left Horses Roasted in Their Stalls. Twenty horses were burned and suffocated to death in Edward Riley's boarding and livery stable, 318 and 320 West Forty-eighth street, between sis and see West Forty-eighth street, between I and 2 o'clock this morning. The fire started in the basement at 1.15 o'clock from spontaneous combustion. The residents of a tenement-house next door became panie-articken, but were quieted by the police. Of the fifty horses in the stable thirty were saved. The rest were burned and suffocated. Forty carriages in the second loft were destroyed. The total loss was about $25,000. The building was owned by Brewster & Company, carriage manufacturers.

Jay Gould on the Other Side. Vernon H. Brown & Co., agents of the Cunar Line, to-day received a cablegram announcing the arrival off Fastnet at 6 o'clock this morning of the steamer Umbria, which has Jay Gould and party on board. Fac-Similes of Fellows's Begging Letters to Tweed.

By courtesy of the New York Times, THE EVEN ING WORLD is able to print fac-similes of John R. Fellows's begging letters to Boss Tweed the day after the jury which tried the great plunderer of city funds had disagreed. It will be observed that the letters are written on blanks intended for the exclusive use of judges and clerks of the Supreme Court. Col. Fellows had no right to it whatever. Here is the first letter:

NEW YORE, Feb. 1, 1878. DEAR SIR: I am sorry to have to avail myself of your generous after of vesterday, but I have not reo'd anything from the Gentlemen referred to, and I am estuated as follows: I have $928.00 to pay to-day, and I have $400 to do it with. TWEED'S VALIANT DEPENDER.

For two years before these letters were written Col. Fellows had been a valuant champion of Tweed, defending him in public villifying all who criticised his dishenest career. There was ample reason for Tweed to be "generous" to Col. Fellows. He had done him valuable yesterday, Col. Fellows claims that this money was a " loan," and was repaid to Tweed. No receipt or voucher of any kind was taken to show it. Col. Fellows avers that a week or so after the above letters were written and Tweed handed over the money he met Dewey (Tweed's private secre tary) in Delmonico's and handed him $523 in bills. Dewey is dead.

TRYING TO "EXPLAIN" IT. Fellows Wants to Shift the Lond on Dewey, and Dewey is Dead.

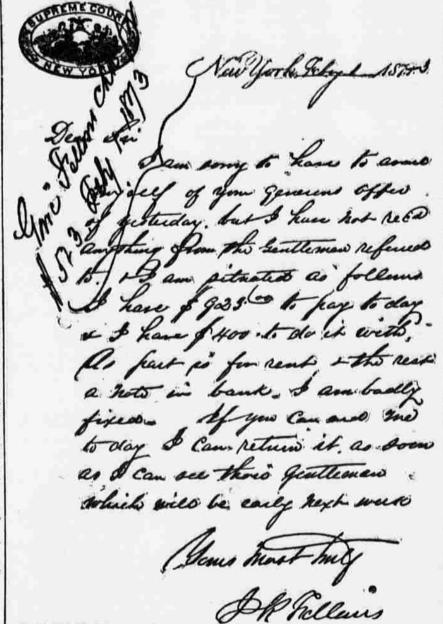

Here are a few of Col. Fellows's explanations about the $523 he got from Boss Tweed the day after Tweed's jury disagreed. They make interest-PELLOWS'S PIEST EXPLANATION.

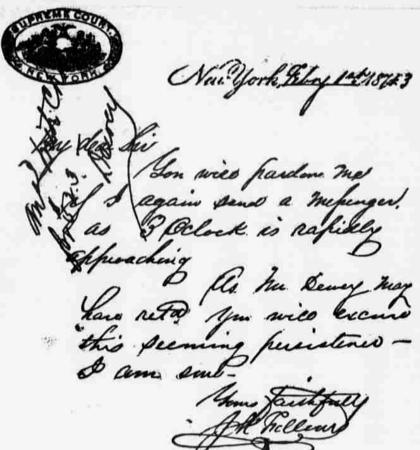

"It is true that I wrote the letters, but the de ductions drawn therefrom by the Times are en-tirely fulse. I was hard up for $500 on Feb. 1, 1873. I applied for the money to Mr. Tweed, who was an old friend of mine and helped me out be HIS EXPLANATION AFTER MORE CONSIDERATION.

"You may say that the whole matter is very simple and expisinable. Referring to the charges have this to say: I did borrow that amount from the late S. Foster Dewey, Mr. Tweed's private secretary, who was my personal friend. He got it from Mr. Tweed. It was immaterial to me from whom he got it."

HIS RECOLLECTION LATER. "With reference to the money which, it is said borrowed from Tweed, I may say that I never horrowed the sum of $500 or any other sum from Mr. Tweed. Mr. S. Foster Dewey, who happened JOHN R. FELLOWS'S LETTERS TO TWEED.

to be Mr. Tweed's secretary, was my friend. I had known him for some years. What money I received I got from Mr. Dewey. That is my recollection of the matter at this time.

HIS AUTHORIZED EXPLANTION STILL LATER.

Col. Fellows met Mr. Dewey and informed him that he had obligations amounting to $200 to meet on the following day, a part of which was in the bank, and that he had but $400 with which to meet it. Col. Fellows asked Mr. Dewey whether, if he failed to get the money the next day from parties to whom he had applied for it, he could assist him temporarity. He said he thought he could. In the course of two or three hours Mr. Dewey sent word to Col. Fellows that he would let him have the money the hext day if it was necessary, and that if he wanted it he must send to Mr. Tweed for it. On the following day, not receiving the money from the quarters where he had applied, he wrote a note—the first note which was published this morning—to Mr. Tweed. Waiting until nearly 2 o'clock and fearing that his obligation in the bank would go to protest, he sent the second note, and 'n return received the check for $525. Col. Fellows sid not see Mr. Tweed; he never had one word of conversation with him in regard to the matter, and within one week from that time, as he had promised in his first note, he repaid the money. That is all there is to this last campaign stander. first note, he repaid the money. That is all there is to this last campalyn slander.

FELLOWS AS A WELCHER.

Hard Facts About His Repudiation of Debt of Honor.

"Yes," says Col. Fellows, "I did sometimes induige in poker in those days," referring to 1876, when he played "wind" against Assemblyman George A. "wind" against Assemblyman George A.
Stauff's cash, and afterward repudiated the debt of $510 thus incurred and pleaded the gambling laws of the State in defense of a suit for that amount. but there are many others who see nothing wrong for a debt incurred at gambling at poker, and was therefore wi hout legal consideration.

Of course Col. Fellows did not have a judgment flied sgainst him for this dest of sonor. He got out by acting the part of a welcher. A welcher is a man of no honor, accordin, to the gambler's lexicon.

Then THE WORLD printed a fac simile of a check given by Fellows to Stauff for $150, to get him to be quite about the whole matter. But Mr. Stauff found that the check was valueless, for Col. Fellows had no funds in the bank on which it was drawn.

The exposure knocked the rotten bottom out of the alleged boom for the welcher, and betting men are run-ing up and down in vain endeavors to hedge such bets as they had made on the success of his candidacy. But it is hard to find men foolish and youtful enough to take the odds offered by them on De Lancey Nicoll.

In short, since the exposure by The World everybody wants to bet on Nicoll.
